THE BAZAAR OPENED.

The formal opening of the bazaar at the Young People's Building last night. By eight o'clock there had gathered a large company of matronly dames, young married women, beautiful girls, benedictas, and gallant gals, with winsome lassies and mischievous boys thrown in for good measure.

Rev. Mr. Bull made a brief statement concerning the work of the Young People's Building, extending a welcome to the men of Alexandria of all churches and no church, to the privileges of the building. The reading and game rooms will be open to the public without charge during the autumn, winter and spring months.

Mr. Bull then presented Mayor Paff who made a p'le sing a l'ra and spoke the word which touched the electric button, so to speak, and a flood of light from the article to the broke upon the scene and got a glad with strains of music from Prof. Pa getti's orchestra.

The pretty wares sold like hot waffles and the lunch rooms on the first floor were crowded throughout the evening. Shanghai and Yokohama are not more oriental than the scene in the parlors.

FUNERALS.

The funeral of the late Engineer Amos D. Johnson, who was killed in a head-on collision between two freight trains near Woodstock Monday afternoon, took place from the residence, 1005 Duke street, this evening. The services were conducted by Rev. C. D. Killa. The pallbearers were members of the Locomotive Engineers' Association. A number of railroad men attended the funeral. The interment was in the Presbyterian cemetery.

The funeral of Fireman T. Judson Jones, who was killed at the same time, took place at Ma as was today.

[Justice H. B. Oton presiding.] The following cases were disposed of this morning:

SCALPED.

Mrs. Blount, wife of Mr. Henry Blount, was the victim of a serious accident at her home in Fairfax county, near this city, last Monday night. Mr. Blount was indisposed and his wife was in the act of preparing hot water for his relief when the kettle in which it was boiling burst, sending a volume of steam into her face, and seriously scalding her. It was at first feared that she would lose the sight of one of her eyes. Mrs. Blount is being attended by Dr. Jones.

He will discuss missionary work among the Jews and also deal with the Jew as an important element in the immigration problem. All who may be interested are invited to be present.

The funeral took place from Mr. B. Wheatley's undertaking parlors. Mrs. Wright, of Richmond, a stepdaughter of the deceased, was present at the funeral.

RABBIT IN AN OYSTER HOUSE.

Mr. Peter Francis, who conducts an oyster house on King street, last night had his attention called to a pile of waste paper by a rustling in the heap. He supposed it was occasioned by a rat but upon making an examination was surprised to find a large rabbit. Mr. Francis succeeded in capturing and placing it in a box.

Ladies! "Why not be comfortable." Buy The Red Cross Shoe. It bends with the foot. J. A. Marshall & Bro., 422 King street.

TO FIX THE RESPONSIBILITY.

Coroner Monroe Parkhouse, of Harrisburg, accompanied a coroner's jury last night, with a view of fixing the responsibility for Wednesday's railway wreck at Tom's Branch on the Masses Branch of the Southern Railway by which Engineer Amos Johnson and Fireman Judson Jones were killed. The blame for the accident is alleged to lie between the Elinburg agent and Conductor Yocum, of one train. The agent claims that "meet" orders for Woodstock were delivered to Yocum at Elinburg, but that the conductor left the office without taking the orders with him. The inquest was adjourned until Thursday, when witnesses will be produced to show the liability for the wreck.

DEATHS.

Mr. George W. Lush, a former resident of this city, but who had for a number of years lived in Washington, died at 414 K street northeast, that city, about 12 o'clock last night. The deceased was 68 years old. He leaves a widow (daughter of the late J. T. Devaughn) and several children. Mr. Lush often visited Alexandria, and he was in this city a few weeks ago.

Gladie E., infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Beach, died at her parents' home, corner of Duke and Fairfax streets, this morning.

ST. ANDREW'S BROTHERHOOD.

The local council of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew met at the Parish Hall of Christ Church last night, where an interesting session was held, at which considerable business was transacted. Rev. W. J. Morton opened the exercises in which he was assisted by Rev. Edgar Carpenter, Mr. Conway Brawner, president of the council, presided. Addresses were made by Mr. James W. Roberts, of West End, and Mr. Z. T. Vincent, of the Theological Seminary. Mr. Carpenter introduced Mr. Burgess, of the Holy Apostles Church, of Philadelphia, who also made an address and spoke of the work being done in his church.

COURT OF APPEALS.

The Court of Appeals began its fall term in Richmond yesterday. The docket is a large one, embracing several Commonwealth cases, and these were first taken up by the court. Some of the cases were merely presented on briefs.

The most important case argued was the Roanoke liquor case, growing out of the refusal of the express companies of the State to handle liquor consigned to parties in "dry" territory. The case was first decided adversely to the "dry" towns by the State Corporation Commission, which held that retail dealers could ship to the towns, but that wholesalers and brewers could not do so. The Porter Company, of Alexandria, appealed.

Perhaps the most novel of all the cases on the docket is that which will determine whether or not the estate of the late Mayor J. Samuel McCue, of Charlottesville, will have to bear the expenses of the prosecution which landed him on the gallows to expiate the crime of wife murder. The State's bill against the McCue estate amounts to some $3,000, and includes the cost of building the gallows. City Sergeant Clifford W. Rogers, the man who officiated at the execution, would accept no fee for the gruesome work he did.

Following is a summary of the proceedings yesterday:

Commonwealth et al. vs. at al. vs. Norfolk City School Board. Passed. Stanley vs. Commonwealth. Argued and submitted.

Barton vs. Commonwealth. Submitted on briefs.

Commonwealth et al. vs. Camp Manufacturing Company. Argued and submitted.

Commonwealth vs. Goodwin. Motion to dismiss. Passed.

Commonwealth vs. McCue's executors. Passed.

Robert Porter Brewing Company vs. Southern Express Company. Argued by R. E. Byrd and Samuel G. Brent for plaintiff in error and Thomas W. Shelton for defendant in error and submitted.

Next cases to be called: Southern Express Company vs. Jacobs; Ivanhoe Furnace Company; Virginia and Tennessee Telephone Company; Miller trustee, vs. Town of Pulaski; Equitable Life Association vs. Kites; Preve vs. Norfolk and Western Railway Company, and Nash et al. vs. Poplar Lumber Company, being Nos. 1 to 6 inclusive, on the privileged docket.

LOVERS OF MUSIC are divided into two classes—those who produce it and those who listen.

YOU can be one of those who PRODUCE MUSIC if you own a

Pianola Piano

WHY remain longer satisfied merely to hear others play the piano, when you can just as well be the player yourself.

THERE can be no question but that the pleasure of playing is vastly greater than that of listening.

IF you care at all for music, then WHY NOT BE A PIANIST? THE PIANOLA PIANO will supply you with the skill. It will also supply you with a perfect instrument for hand-playing. In tone, in action, in appearance, the Pianola Piano is unsurpassed.

EVERY DAY you do without a Pianola Piano you are missing a pleasure which thousands of other people have spent years of their lives to gain.

PIANOLA PIANOS are genuine only when they bear the names of the Weber, the Steck, the Wheelock, or the Stayman Pianos. No other so-called Player-piano contains the Pianola or is equipped with such vital improvements as the
